EDITORIAL BRIEFS.

AT the present price of wheat in Chicago the ordinary Western farmer can not make a dollar a day raising it.

CHARLES J. STAHL, book binder and music dealer in Altoona, committed suicide on Friday morning by hanging.

BLAINE is in favor of the re-nomination of Senator Edmunds as Senator from Vermont. Blaine is always loyal to the ticket.

MAXWELL has been convicted of murder and the strong probability is that he will soon be suspended at the end of a rope.

The peach crop may be a failure this year, but the crop of peachblow vases is a great success. They are now made to sell at a shilling each.

C. B. FOLSOM, a druggist in Youngstown, asserts positively that the Christian name of the President's bride is Frances, and not Frank.

THE State Medical Society in session Friday in Williamsport, appointed Bedford as the next place of meeting on last Wednesday in June, 1887.

WHEN Blaine made his Home Rule speech a few days ago the British lion roared louder than it has at any other time since the bill was first introduced.

SCORE one for Texas. An agent of the Louisiana lottery has been convicted in that State for mailing lottery circulars contrary to the postal law. After awhile they will convict a man in the Lone Star State for shooting another.

THERE never was a better time for the Free Traders of Philadelphia and Pennsylvania to stand up and be counted than the present. The job will be a short one, but it might as well be finished before the campaign opens.

HENRY WARD BEECHER will go to Europe to remain four months. He announces that he will lecture while there. Wonder if he will practice his usual method of speaking on Evolution after having advertised one of his other lectures?

W. K. VANDERBILT, C. C. Clarke, Geo. F. Baer, J. M. Gazzam and C. J. Langdon were the purchasers of the Beech Creek, Clearfield and Southwestern railroad sold at Clearfield Friday for $1,300,000, subject to a mortgage held by the Union Trust company, of New York.

TEN pupils of the Hollidaysburg High School graduated from that institution amid appropriate exercises Wednesday evening. We notice that among the titles of the essays was that favorite one without which any such exercises are incomplete, viz., "Night Brings Out the Stars."

THE secretaries of the Y. M. C. A., in the discussion in convention at Harrisburg last week as to the best methods of inculcating purity of habits and morals, refused to endorse the methods of the White Cross Army. It seems to us that the Y. M. C. A. should not hesitate so long about methods but should seek to accomplish the end aimed at.

THE National Woman's Christian Temperance Union is circulating petitions among influential ecclesiastical and temperance bodies, asking them to join in requesting that one entire day in the Week of Prayer be devoted to prayer for the overthrow of the liquor traffic. Considering the magnitude of the evil of intemperance, and that it doubtless is the greatest obstacle in the way of the gospel in every land, this request seems eminently proper.

THE Americus Republican Club, of Allegheny, is arranging for a grand excursion to Harrisburg to attend the Republican State Convention on the 30th. The club has declared for "Beaver and Montooth" and will go with the double object of furthering the nominations of those two gentlemen to places on the State ticket and of securing from the excursion all the enjoyment that is possible. In Gen. James A. Beaver and Major E. A. Montooth they believe that they will have candidates that will ensure victory, and will fight under that banner. The dress of the members of the club will be the regulation Americus black suit, white hat and tie, light cane and white gloves.

Republican Representation.

The change proposed in the rules governing representation in the Republican convention is exciting the attention of all Republicans and should be thoroughly discussed before the convention meets. The Philadelphia Press says: "The proposed revision of the rules embraces three points: First, the abolition of the senatorial delegates altogether; second, the fixing of representation strictly upon the basis of the Republican vote, giving each district a representative for every two thousand Republican votes in the last preceding Presidential election, or fraction thereof exceeding one-half; third, the abrogation of the conferee system in judicial, congressional and senatorial districts, and the selection of candidates by regular conventions based on popular representation on the same general principle which is proposed for the State Convention. The third point can only be presented in an advisory way. Neither the Committee nor the State Convention has any power to change the rules which govern local or district nominations. But it can recommend, and a recommendation coming from the State Convention would unquestionably carry great weight with the local bodies. If the proposed plan were adopted for the government of future State Conventions, it would doubtless be the beginning of a reform extending through the whole political system.

"The vital part of the plan consists in the abolition of senatorial delegates and in the adoption of proportional representation based on the Republican vote. This would produce less change than might at first be supposed. With 2000 Republican votes as the unit of representation it would make a slight reduction in the aggregate of Convention. Taking the Blaine vote as the basis the total number of delegates would be 239 instead of 251 The abolition of the senatorial delegates would strike off fifty at one blow, and the gains from representative districts would not quite make it up. Only six counties would lose from their present representation, and only one of these, Berks, would lose more than one. Philadelphia would gain fifteen representative delegates, but would lose eight senatorial delegates, so that its net gain would be only seven. In the same way Allegheny would make a net gain of one and Lancaster of two. Twenty-three other gains would be made to offset the loss of senatorial delegates and scattered through almost as many counties.

"The selection of 2000 Republican votes as the unit of representation obviates some of the objections which have been urged to this plan. It saves the minority counties generally from any curtailment of their proportionate share of power in the Convention. If 1500 were adopted as the unit, as has been suggested in some quarters, it would relatively reduce the strength of the minority counties. That proposition would probably encounter serious opposition. But the plan of the Committee should disarm most of this hostility. There is certainly no reason why the cumbrous system of senatorial delegates with all its embarrassments and complications should be continued. Nor can the principle of proportional representation be successfully contested. The report of the Committee will come before the Harrisburg Convention on the 30th of June, and meanwhile it should be fairly considered and discussed by Republicans throughout the State."

They are Disturbed.

The Democracy of old Centre county was never before in a more excited and "flustered" condition than at present. This condition of perturbation is largely due to the peculiar appointments which have been made in this district since the Democrats have had the right to appoint anyone. Some how or other, a Democrat believes he must hold office when his party is in power and never will the party be an entire success until there are offices enough to go around. The straw which seemed to break the camel's back in this county was the appointment of Mr. Mingle for prothonotary. We see nothing so intensely objectionable in Mr. Mingle. Indeed, he seems to be an excellent gentleman. Perhaps, however, that is what's the matter with them. They are not accustomed to really good men and to have one in such a prominent place is quite unsatisfactory.

HERR MOST is working a bellows in State's prison. Keeps up his "blowing," as it were.

That Presidential Wedding.

President Cleveland has the right to be married in any way he pleased. Although the style he adopted does not accord with our taste, we shall not criticise him, but shall merely express in plain language the way we think would have best suited one in his position.

Marriage, as a rule, occurs only once in a life time, and is supposed to be an event of joy. Ordinary dictates of unselfishness move the chief actors to share with others the joy of the occasion, and, although we claim to possess as much delicate taste and refinement in such affairs as any one, we must confess that the idea of exclusiveness on any wedding occasion is abhorrent to us. All should be bidden on such occasions to witness the nuptials and felicitate with the participants. Mr. Cleveland's wedding was unduly exclusive.

But especially is it appropriate from one in his position to make his wedding a public affair, or else postpone it until he again enters private life. The Nation looks to him, rejoices when he rejoices and weeps with him in his sorrows. We sadly fear that Mr. Cleveland fails to appreciate the importance of the position which he is trying to fill.

If his desire was, in part, to prevent much being said and written of the affair his course in excluding reporters was a mistake. When a reporter is denied the privilege of personal knowledge, he naturally considers that he has a right to give any rumor which he hears. If he has personal knowledge he takes pride in giving it exact.

But Mr. Cleveland, although 50 years of age, is young in public life and has much to learn. This paper, in extending to him the joys of the occasion wishes that the future may have in store for him a large share of valuable knowledge of the kind he especially needs.

Honors Awaiting Us.

People of Bellefonte and Centre county have reason to feel pride in the way events appear to be shaping to shower honor upon them. It seems to be certain that Gen. James A. Beaver will receive the Republican nomination for Governor. He has made no special effort to secure it, but it is being spontaneously bestowed upon him with a liberality and a unity of opinion that is quite unprecedented. Such a nomination, given in such a way, any citizen should be proud of.

There is also so much difference in the way he can enter the canvass for election now from that which he entered a few years ago for the same office. A united party, seeking to redress an injury of which their sense of prudence at the time made him the victim. Absolutely no opposition in his own party confronts him this year, and with such a clear field success is certain, and the desire of all Republicans to give him the compliment of an unusually large vote added to his personally brilliant qualities will make his majority so great as to surprise even those who are well acquainted with Pennsylvania politics.

Manning on Finances.

Secretary Manning, in his note of resignation of his office, addressed to the President, makes the somewhat remarkable assertions that "our currency is a chaos" and "our tariff laws are a needless burden." Business experience is sufficiently clear to the effect that, on the whole, our currency is the most stable and convenient, and our public credit the best in the civilized world, to make it seem that the Secretary is interested in decrying the value of the fiscal legacy which he received from the Republican party.

Under such circumstances it seems to be necessary to remind people who agree with Secretary Manning that the one obstacle to making the currency less chaotic is his own party; while the contributions of his administration in that direction are confined to making the public debt statement unintelligible, to cutting off the supply of small bills desired by trade, and to keeping down the redemptions of interest-bearing debt to the smallest possible limits.

As Secretary Manning has agreed to remain in office until next Autumn, we hope his health will enable him to bring something like order out of this chaos.

OF the large cities, Philadelphia pays school teachers the smallest average salary and San Francisco pays the highest. The average in Philadelphia is $517 and in San Francisco $980.

The Pennsylvania Reserves.

At the meeting of the veteran survivors of the Pennsylvania reserves in Reading on Monday, Lancaster was chosen as the next place of meeting, and the following officers were elected: President, ex-Governor Andrew G. Curtin; vice president, J. P. Taylor, of Reedsville, and General H. G. Sickles and W. Ross Hartshorn, of Philadelphia; corresponding secretary, Chill W. Hazzard, of Pittsburg; treasurer W. W. Johnson, of Philadelphia. Out of 15,000 reserves originally mustered in there are 2,800 survivors. The matter of preparing a truthful historical account of the part taken by the reserves in the confederate repulse at Round Top and the battle of Gettysburg was referred to a committee of seven. It was decided to petition the legislature for an appropriation of $500 to each Pennsylvania regiment which participated in that battle, the money to be used in the erection of monuments at Gettysburg. On Monday a camp fire and banquet were held at the opera house. Several hundred persons, including many military men, took part therein. A number of addresses were made.

ONE incident in wheat speculation was illustrated on Wednesday of last week at Chicago by the delivery of 5,000 bushels of wheat for $1,200 cash, or 24 cents per bushel. About twice as much was at the time due to the elevator for storage. With insurance and other charges, and with the decline in value from 96 cents, the price when the wheat was put into the elevator, October 19, 1882, the whole value of the grain was completely eaten up. The moral is that farmers can afford to keep their wheat and wait, while other people cannot afford to carry wheat from year to year on speculation.

NOW THAT the government of Great Britain has been defeated on the second reading of the Home Rule bill doubtless the next move will be the dissolution of Parliament and an appeal to the people, for which Gladstone and Parnell seem to be anxious. Home Rule is not defeated. The principle will live and grow. It has only received its first real opposition. Gladstone will ever be known as the champion of this great principle and may live to see it adopted in some such bill as has just been defeated.

MISS ROSE ELIZABETH CLEVELAND is going to Europe. It is because of her "capricious curiosity," or "the distracting impotence of invalidism," or her "especially refined exploration of soul," or "the vain folly of selfish subjectivity," or some of the other remarkable things she wrote of in her book. She may also be going to provide herself with a trousseau worthy of a President's sister.

EX-SENATOR DAVIS, of Maryland, was interviewed Monday night at Deer Park as to the truth of the rumor that he was to succeed Secretary Manning as Secretary of the Treasury. Davis seemed disposed to be reticent. He said, "I would rather not talk on that subject," but he was evidently pleased at being mentioned in connection with so important an office.

IT is somewhat reassuring to learn that the worst calamity that can be predicted for the peach crop is that it will be so big that the trees will be broken down and ruined before the fruit is ripe. If any summer opened without some such danger, there might be fear that the usual abundance of luscious peaches would be lacking that season.

THE Constitution of the State of New York provides that "no law shall be passed abridging the right of the people peaceably to assemble and to petition the Government or any part thereof." Governor Hill, however, has given out that petitions will not affect his official actions. The framers of the Constitution owe Mr. Hill an apology.

THE Prohibition party of this county announce a convention to be held in this place soon. We regret to notice that Hon. A. A. Barker, of Evensburg, is on the programme as speaker. His addresses usually are but diatribes against the Republican party and as such are not worthy the serious attention of anyone. In brief, he is a barker.

THERE is now no doubt as to who is the "first lady in the land." Some of the high dames in Washington were disposed to dispute that position with Miss Cleveland.

Buddensick.

Buddensick, the New York house builder, who put up structures which tumbled down and killed people who were near them, has been sent to Sing Sing for ten years. Let us hope that by the time his term of imprisonment is ended he will be convinced of the necessity of erecting substantial structures that wont endanger human life.

This is just the way with two many people who build houses. They are not careful to make them first-class structures. Any tumble-down house, they think, will do to rent. If they get the money for them that is all they care for. So, also, in building human character, too many people are careful only of outside show and do not care to make it strong and durable, to withstand the storms of sin. The characters (?) built by such people will fall and those who build them will be punished.

WORD has come "across the deep blue sea" that the English Medical Commission, that has been investigating Pasteur's hydrophobia cure, reports emphatically in his favor, and declares that his discovery is one of the great scientific achievements of the century. This is a very complimentary acknowledgement to Pasteur, and should be very gratifying to the Frenchman. But would not the value of the endorsement be immensely increased if it contained the details of the investigation, which fixes the fact that some of the dogs which have bitten some of Pasteur's cured patients were really mad? We believe that lack of such evidence is the only hindrance to belief in Pasteur's remedy as scientifically proved in this country; and we very much fear that with every disposition to welcome such a scientific fact, the very practical character of the American mind will hold the question as unsettled until such definite proof is supplied. Come! Trot out the proofs.

IT takes a long time, it seems, for college students to become civilized, or perhaps it would be more correct to say that they lose what civilization they possess soon after entering college. At the examination for admission to Columbia College last week, the one hundred candidates were obliged to endure the jeers and howls of the upper class men, who consider it one of their prerogatives to annoy those who seek to enter. It seems to be more than ever necessary to introduce a chair of Good Manners into some of our college courses.

A VERY short time has elapsed since nobody would have believed that John Kelley's funeral would have been attended with such general expressions of good will and kindly regard. One of the most bitterly assailed men in public life, there are few who, dying, have called forth such unanimous commendations for his manly honesty of character. After all, his sturdy honesty has stood him in good stead; few men have at the end of life received such grand endorsement.

IT is considered that T. C. Hipple, Esq., of Lock Haven, would be a formidable Democratic candidate for State Senator in this district, and the Republicans are expected to "trot out" their very best man to defeat Mr. Hipple if he is nominated. Mr. Hipple may be a good man, but then we have plenty of them in the Republican party.

IT is nonsense to howl about the newspaper men quartered at Deer Park. The newspapers are perfectly justified in reporting whatever their subscribers want to read, especially if the subject matter is itself harmless. Nothing now narrated in the press is of more interest than the daily doings of the President and his bride.

IT is announced that Hon. John A. Woodward, of Howard, will have fifty bushels of raspberries this season! To the reporter for this paper that seems to be an immense quantity. Said reporter believes he can make use of about a quarter of a bushel of fine red raspberries if the Hon. Mr. Woodward is disposed to be generous.

AT the division on the second reading of the Home Rule bill on Monday the government was beaten by a majority of thirty. The vote on the home rule bill was 311 for and 341 against. Mr. Gladstone moved an adjournment till Thursday, which was adopted.

COL. HAYES GRIER will start a new paper in Columbia.

Poetry.

WISHES.

Whatever you want, if you wish for it long
With constant yearning and fervent desire,
If your wish soars upward on wings so strong
That they never grow languid and never tire,

Why, over the storm-clouds and out of the dark
It shall come flying some day to you,
As the dove with the olive branch flew to the ark,
And the dream you have cherished, it shall come true.

But, lest much rapture should make you mad,
Or too bright sunlight should strike you blind,
Along with your blessing a something sad
Shall come like a shadow that follows behind,

Something unwelcome and unforseen,
Yet to your hope and your wish a part,
Shall stand like a sentinel in between
The perfect joy and the human heart.

I wished for a cloudless and a golden day;
It came; but I looked from my windows to see
A giant shadow, which seemed to say:
"If you ask for the sunlight you must take me."

O, a wonderful thing is the human will
When serving one purpose and seeking one end;
But I think it wiser just to sit still
And accept whatever the gods may send.

A KNOT OF BLUE.

She had no germ of luster bright,
To sprinkle in her hair;
No reed had she of borrowed light
To make her beauty fair.
Upon her shining locks afloat
Are daisies wet with dew,
And peeping from her lissome throat
A little knot of blue.

A dainty knot of blue,
A ribbon blithe of hue—
It nills my dreams with sunny gleams,
That little knot of blue.

I met her down the shadowed lane
Beneath the apple tree;
The balmy blossoms fell like rain
Upon my lover and me;
And what I said or what I did
That morn I never knew,
But to my breast there came and hid
A little knot of blue.

A little knot of blue,
A love knot strong and true—
'Twill hold my heart till life shall part,
That little knot of blue.

GROWTH.

How would I grow? Not like the vine,
Though beautiful and full of grace,
Close clinging to its resting place,
Where leaf and blossom intertwine.

For tendrils break when winds are high;
The best supports, in time, will fail,
And what can weak, vine-strength avail
When bruised and torn on earth I lie!

But like the tree, oh, tall and fair,
With roots deep reaching through the ground,
With branches spreading far around,
Drawing all good from earth and air.

Drawing all good that I may give
Of my abundance friendly aid
To all who seek my pleasant shade,
Or in my screening branches live;

That when the term of life is past,
And I am severed from the ground,
Growth may all so firm be found
That much of good will life outlast.

THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN THEM.

"I am going to the seaside," said the milkman,
blithe and gay;
"For I love the ocean breezes, and I love the dashing spray;
Yes, I love the gorgeous sunset, love the calm, and love the squall—
But I think I love the water, in my business, best of all."

"That's the difference between us," said the grocer at his side,
"Though the ocean breeze is bracing, and I love the rolling tide,
Though I dearly love the billows, yet I can't forget the land,
And I think my young affection most is centered in the sand."

Our Story Teller.

Jeff's Fortune.

Certainly poor little Jeff looked very untidy, his clothes torn and faded, his small face pale and dirty; yet, in spite of this and the hunger he had felt all day, he was anything but unhappy as he busily plied his broom across the muddy road.

The day was cold, and rain had fallen plentifully during the night; Jeff felt rather glad than otherwise because it gave him work, and a chance of earning a few stray pence

These last, however, did not come often; he had been sweeping for over an hour, and as yet had only one halfpenny hidden in the depths of his ragged pocket.

Presently, as he stood by the curb resting, a gentleman, leading by the hand a little fair haired girl, came up.

The child was chattering gaily, and over her father's sombre face broke tender smiles as he listened to her voice.

Jeff could not help gazing after them as they walked over his crossing, something like envy in his heart; the maiden looked so bright, and pretty, warmly wrapped up in costly velvet and furs

Almost unconsciously as she reached the other side she glanced back, and meeting Jeff's regretful, hungry eyes, paused.

The boy saw her speak a few eager words to her father; then the wealthy man with a smile thrust something into her tiny hand.

Jeff noticed she hesitated a moment before she obeyed her father's gentle command.

"Go, Flossie dear; the poor boy will not hurt you."

Flossie shyly moved towards Jeff, and slipped a bright shilling in his hand.

"Are you cold?" she asked pitifully.

"Yes, a little," Jeff answered, his face flushing with confused pleasure.

"And hungry?"

"Yes; I have had nothing to eat yet."

"Poor boy!" Flossie continued, sympathetically. "Now, you will be able to have breakfast at once, won't you?"

Jeff's eyes glistened, and a smile crossed his pinched lips.

"Breakfast and dinner, too; thank you kindly miss."

"Flossie, come," Mr. Hope called sharply, and the child nodding a bright farewell to Jeff hastened to her father.

Jeff lost no time in hurrying to the nearest coffee-shop, where for a few pence he made quite a hearty meal. It troubled him a little to part with Flossie's shilling, but hungersoon overcome reluctance.

Feeling much better and warmer after his breakfast, he once more returned to his post, inwardly hoping the next hour would prove as fortunate.

Whistling a merry tune, Jeff swept away the mud which had gathered during his absence, and as he neared the spot where Mr. Hope had waited for his daughter, something bright and shining, lying in the dirt, attracted his attention.

Stooping, he picked it up, and gazed curiously at the strange object.

It looked like a rough piece of crystal, though not quite so pure and white and Jeff's first thought was to throw the stone away, the next to drop it carelessly into his pocket.

"Perhaps it will bring me luck; anyway, I'll keep it," he muttered, and continued his sweeping.

Whether due to the unpolished crystal or because people were struck with unusual compassion for Jeff, certain it was the boy had more pennies dropped in his hand that day than had ever fallen to his lot.

After counting his money the same night, when he retired to rest beneath an archway close by, Jeff drew out his luck find, and turned it over and over in his hand.

"I'll keep you always—see if I don't," he mused. "You have brought me luck already; in the future I'll call you my fortune,"

Jeff slept soundly all night, undisturbed as he generally was by stern policemen.

Morning saw him again at his crossing, sweeping with renewed energy, fortified by a hearty breakfast.

Not long had he worked before a man, kind-faced and white haired, passed over the crossing.

Half-way, his gold-headed cane slipped from his trembling fingers to the ground, and Jeff ever watchful and obliging, rushed forward to pick it up.

As he handed it to its owner, the gentleman smiled, gazing earnestly into the boy's open, honest face.

After fumbling in his pockets a few minutes, he shook his head and sighed.

"I have no money, my boy; I can give you nothing"

Jeff laughed cheerfully.

"Never mind, sir; I do not want any reward," he said.

"Come to my house instead, this evening, and I will see what I can do for you," the gentleman added gravely, giving him his card, pleased at the boy's frankness.

Jeff promised to obey, and after work hurried to the address given him.

He was welcomed by his old patron, and before another week Jeff was placed where he could learn an honest trade, his ragged clothes changed for clean new ones.

He was happy now, but never once did he cease to believe his fortune was owing entirely to to the rough stone found in the mud; it hung round his throat now, fastened by a blue ribbon, and strangely enough, though remarked often by his protector, no curious and prying questions were asked as to why he cherished so ugly a thing.

Nearly a year had passed by, and one day whilst returning to his home, Jeff suddenly came face to face with Flossie.

The recognition was mutual, blended a little with surprise on both sides. Flossie wondering how her beggar boy came to look so clean and tidy. Jeff felt more astonished to see the change in the little girl's dress, her rich velvet replaced by plain merino.

"I am glad I met you," Jeff began softly. 'I wanted to thank you for your first kindness; it must have been your influence which brought me good fortune; it was after you passed by that I found my lucky stone."

"A stone!" What stone?" Flossie answered quickly, a look of bright interest on her face.

Flattered by her pretty eagerness Jeff poured into her sympathetic ears the story of his rough crystal.

"Have you got it still?" Flossie asked breathlessly.

"Yes," Jeff answered proudly producing it.

Flossie took the stone in her hand, tears filling her eyes as she gazed.

"Do you know, boy, you have been carrying a fortune about you all these months?" she said tramulously. "The loss of this diamond you considered so valueless, nearly ruined my father Since the day we first met we have been almost poor, and papa never guessed he had lost it there."

"Then this stone belongs to you?" Jeff said incredulously.

"Yes. Papa sought in vain far and wide, he will be so glad when he knows where it has been all this time!"

Still puzzled, Jeff followed Flossie to her home, and Mr. Hope soon convinced him of the truth of the girl's story.

Very gladly Jeff returned the jewel to its rightful owner, strongly refusing all offers of aid from the grateful merchant.

One thing, however, he willingly accepted—the friendship proffered him by Mr. Hope and his daughter.

Jeff never regretted giving up his lucky stone. A fortune, far greater and more sure, came to him in after years; success followed him through life and never failed, bringing with it peace and happy content.

Modes of Salutations.

A French traveler, says an exchange, reports that every race among whom he has sojourned has its own mode of salutation, not excepting the great Yankee nation. He informs his readers that, however, a few polite and Europeanized Americans may salute one another, the characteristic national salutation is "Hello!"

We fear he is right. The telephone is accused of having fastened the stigma upon us, but in truth the telephone only adopted a word familiar to all boys and most men.

The Irishman says on meeting, "God bless you!" On entering a dwelling, "God save all here!"

The Arabs say on meeting, "A fine morning to you!"

The Turk says with dignified gravity, "God grant you his blessings."

The Persian salutation is familiar to all the world for its comic quaintness, May your shadow never grow less."

The Egyptain is a practical man. He has to earn his taxes by toil under a burning sun, and accordingly when he meets his fellow he asks, "How do you sweat?"

The reader is probably aware that in those low latitudes all is well with a laborer as long as he perspires freely.

The good Chinaman loves his dinner. "How are you digesting?" he kindly inquires on meeting a friend.

The Greeks, who are keen men of business, close bargains, ask one another, "How are you getting on?"

The national salutation of Naples was formerly, "Grow in grace!" At present in all parts of Italy they use a phrase equivalent to "How are you?"

The Spaniards, "How are you passing it?"

The French, "How do you carry yourself?"

The Germans, "How does it go?"

The Dutch, "How do you travel?"

The Swedes, "How can you?" meaning, "Are you in good vigor?"

The Russians, "Be well!"

The English-speaking races, in addition to the juvenile and telephonic "Hello!" say, "How are you?" and "How do you do?"

We also take off the hat, shake hands, embrace, bow and kiss, as, in other climes, people rub noses, touch foreheads and take off their shoes.

The American in Italy is surprised to see men embrace and kiss each other, as in the Bible lands.

The Italians in turn look upon our hand-shaking as cold and ridiculous, the bobbing up and down of the arm having no meaning whatever in their view.

The touching of the lips of gloved fingers, if more graceful than hand-shaking, must also seem to people of the east as professional and expression less.

The bow, as a mark of respect, is a custom used by all nations, and one that had its origin in ancient times.

A Miser Outwitted.

An old miser, owning a farm in the north of Scotland, found it impossible to do his work without assistance, and accordingly offered any man food for performing the labor. A half-starved man hearing of the terms, accepted them. Before going into the field in the morning he invited his servant to breakfast. After finishing the morning meal, the old miser thought it would be saving of time if they would place dinner upon the table after breakfast. This was readily agreed to by the unsatisfied stranger, and the dinner was soon dispatched.

"Suppose now," said the frugal farmer, "we take supper? It will save time and trouble, you know."

"Just as you like," said the eager eater, and at it they went.

'Now, we will go to work," said the delighted employer.

"Thank you," said the laborer, "I never work after supper."

He Wanted no Tricycle.

This happened one evening, recently, not a thousand miles from Cambridge: Two tricycles chanced to halt by the roadside for a brief rest just as a group of Irish laborers were passing on their way home from work. Attracted by the bright new machines, two of the men paused a moment to look at them.

"If you only had a tricycle, Pat," said one of the 'cyclers to the nearest of the men, "you could ride to and from your employment."

"Ride to the divil!" said Pat, with a contemptuous look at the combination of man and wheels. "Do ye think I came from the aould counthry to drive donkey-caart, bedad, and be me own horrse?"

The Pont Valentre.

Art Journal

On approaching the episcopal city, the extraordinary bridge known as the Pont Valentre, or Pont de la Calandre, is seen upon the right. It is the most beautiful and complete bridge which has anywhere remained in existence from the thirteenth century. Built across the Lot in 1251, it united the walls of the town, and consists of six pointed arches, on the central and two extreme piles of which stand three towers, that in the centre being square, but those at the ends wider on one side than the other. From the level of the bridge battlemented stairs lead to the first floor of each of these towers. The bank of the river opposite the town is lined by high limestone cliffs, so that on that side the bridge could only be approached sideways, whether from up or down the stream, between the cliffs and the river. On that side, therefore, the approach was fortified by a small castle, which commanded the road and the lower heights of the cliffs, and had a double gate which allowed entrance at a right angle to the level of the bridge outside the first tower. The parapets of this first tower were battlemented, and communicated on one side, by a staircase equally battlemented, with upper defences, of the castle After passing through the machicolated portal of the first tower, the first half of the bridge was entered, which was commanded by the great central tower, ascended by a staircase contained in a continuation of one of the breakwaters. This central tower was also defended by a gate. After passing this, the second half of the bridge was entered, commanded by a third tower, defended by machicolations. Finally, on the side towards the town, another gate defended the northern approach to the third tower, which was ascended by an embattled staircase, resting on a flying buttress. The breakwaters served as refuges, and were embattled, so as to guard the bridge, whilst cutting the river Unfortunately, owing to recent restorations, the bridge looks almost new, and in spite of its quaint setting of rocks, is ruined from an artistic point of view.

Food for Nervous People.

N. Y. Commercial Advertiser.

We often have to care for nervous persons that it is well to know the sort of food best adapted to them. This with systematic exercise and recreation, will often produce results beyond our most sanguine hopes. In taking exercise care must be taken not to fatigue the patient, and there must be an object in the exercises. It will not do to send the patient out "just for a walk;" the walk must be for a purpose; to call on a pleasant friend, for example, or to perform, some slight office, such as carrying flowers or books to the sick, or to purchase some little article needed which requires no great outlay of thought. For food there should be given meat in small quantities, plenty of fish, especially shell fish, as much bread and butter as may be desired, creamed or mashed potatoes and simple puddings. Fruit should play an important part in the dietary, and should be eaten before breakfast. Baked apples, oranges and thoroughly ripe pears are always relished at this time. Cocoa should be used as a beverage instead of tea or coffee, although a cup of tea at 4 o'clock can be borne by persons to whom it would be injurious at any other time. If milk be liked and be digested easily, it may be freely used. Many physicians ordered it cooked. It will usually be found that soups are not conducive, and beer and spirits should be avoided.

The president and principal owner of a water power in Ohio made a call upon the president and principal owner of a brick yard in the same town, and suggested, "Wouldn't it be a good idea for our two concerns to consolidate under the name of the "Buckeye Power and Brick Company?" "But we are three miles apart, and what possible good can come from a consolidation?" "Why, in such an event, I'll own all the power and you'll own all the brickyard inside of six months and the small stockholders will never know how it happened." The papers were drawn up that very day.

Fogg read in his newspaper that "a man and his wife ate about a ton and a quarter of food per annum, including two barrels of flour and a good-sized ox." "This will never do!" he exclaimed. "I must economize on my household expenses. I guess half a barrel of flour and a quarter of an ox will have to do in future. That ought to keep Mrs. F. As for myself, I'll dine at the club. It may cost a little more, but a man can't get along without good victuals and plenty of them. It's different with a woman; or at all events I'll make it different in my family."

Relieved.

Judge—How did you feel, Mr. Snaggs after the prisoner robbed you?

Snaggs—As he walked off with $600 of mine, I must admit, I felt very much relieved. Most of it was in silver dollars.

Brothers in Battle.

I believe that every soldier who was on the battle field can recall some sad incident, perhaps fully as touching as the one I am about to relate, and for the purpose of calling out some of these experiences, more characteristic of real war than most of the amusing incidents so often related, I gave this, of which I was an eye witness:—At the battle of Fair Oaks, during the early part of the fight, some portion of the regiment, the Third Michigan, and part of the Fifth Michigan, and some portion of other regiments got scattered and came together at the front. The Major of the Third Michigan was among the number and took command of us. While we were engaged fighting I was standing near two brothers—I know not of what regiment, but possibly of the Michigan Fifth. They were standing side by side loading and firing. But a few shots had been fired when one of the brothers was struck above the left eye with a ball which passed through and came out at the back of the head, penetrating the brain. He fell to the ground; his brother ceased firing and knelt by his side and tied his handkerchief about his head, held his canteen to his brother's mouth, from which he drank freely, then, as though forgetful of the sad scene, arose to his feet and resumed his loading and firing; but the night was coming on and we had to fall back to try and get with our respective regiments, and then came the scene that brought tears to many a manly eye and sorrow to many a manly heart, even though used to suffering and such sights. The brother who was unharmed knelt by the side of the fallen one, and after giving him a drink from his canteen, he asked (calling him by name). "Do you know me, brother!" The wounded brother could not speak, but raised his hand, which his brother took, and by the pressure of which he knew he was recognized and then he told him he had to fall back, then kissed him for the last farewell, and while tears flowed freely the soldiers turned aside, and soon the place was left far behind; but amid all the years that have gone by since then that scene comes up to me as vividly as on the day it transpired, and even in my dreams, when other events of battle have been vague and mixed up, I have seen as real as on the day of its occurrence, the sad event I have just related There is no doubt but this will come to other eyes that witnessed it.

A Lesson in Genders.

A father sitting on the stoop with his little son one evening, desired to ascertain how well he knew his grammar. So he asked: "How many genders are there, my son?"

"Three; masculine, feminine, and neuter." was the reply.

"Right. What gender is man?"

"Masculine."

"Correct, my boy. Now this stoop we are sitting on, to what gender does it belong?"

"Feminine."

"No, no, my boy; stoop is neuter, because it is the name of a thing."

"But there are stoops that are feminine, are there not?" persisted the boy. "I read on a theatre bill the other day. "She Stoops to Conquer," and if she stoops are not feminine I would like to know what they are."

Not a Fisherman.

"You are fishing with persistence," said a gentleman to an urchin who trashed a stream without apparent reward a whole afternoon.

"Oh, no, sir; only jest angle-worms," replied the youth pleasantly.

"I mean you have a good deal of perseverance," explained the other.

"No, them's suckers; guess ye ain't never lived in these parts, hev ye?" The boy was not a little disgusted by the stranger's ignorance.

A Sure Preventive.

Doctor—You say you have a method of preventing hydrophobia superior to Pasteur's.

Inventor—Yes, sir—Simplest thing the world, too, I assure you.

Doctor—By Jove, there's money in a thing like that, and fame. What's your idea?

Inventor—Why, make the dogs wear false teeth!

Says a fashion writer: "Half-fitting cloaks are warn by small girls." We think we have seen some pretty big girls whose cloaks were not even half fitting. Fashion writers don't know everything, by enough sight.

What this country wants is an annual arbor day, upon which it will be lawful to plant statesmen who have failed.

You don't see much of him at this season, but a grasshopper enjoys a beautiful spring.

All Sorts.

If artesian well borers could begin at the bottom and bore up, fewer mistakes would be made.

A 16-year-old girl can see more poetry in a new bonnet with pink trimmings than a man with a head like a fleece of wool could discover in a thunder gust.

He was riding with his elder sister and thought he could take some liberties. "Have you any objections to my smoking, Mabel?" he asked. "No," she replied. "If you desire to smoke the coachman will help you to alight."

Leafy May, rather than "leafy June," seems to hold sway. The season has been so early that Job Shuttle had about made up his mind to go into a straw hat and seersucker coat. "I say, wife, where are my summer duds?" he inquired the other morning. "They are just where I know where they are, and there they'll stay until I want to take care of a case of pneumonia."

All sorts of explanations have been offered for the withdrawal of a portion of the male persuasion between the acts at theatrical peformances. We believe we now have the correct solution of this phenomenon The spirit of the hour so moves upon these persons that they feel it necessary to indulge in dram-atic exploits of their own while the actors on the stage are resting.

A gentleman hails a cab which is going along the street at a rattling pace. "That's what I want," he said to himself. "None of your slow coaches for me." He had no sooner entered the vehicle than the horses began to walk. "Why don't you drive faster?" he calls to the cabby. "A moment ago you were going along at a gallop, and now —" "That was because my horse thought he was going to the stable." "Can't you let him remain under the same impression?" "What? Deceive my poor horse, monsieur? Never?"

Decoration in Several Places.

A correspondent from Millheim sends the account of Decoration day exercises, rather late, as follows:

Post 298 of Millheim was very active and did good work on Memorial Day The comrades living at Millheim left there at 6.30 a. m. for Madisonburg. They were joined there by comrades from Rebersburg. After the services at Madisonburg they left for Rebersburg. A large crowd of the citizens awaited them there as well as many more soldiers The Rebersburg Band was also on hand to furnish the music. The two cemeteries at Rebersburg were attended to and three addresses were delivered. The services were well conducted and all were impressed with the solemnity of the occasion.

Leaving Rebersburg for Millheim, they had dinner at 2 o'clock, after which the line was again formed in the following order: Public schools, Sunday-schools, Millheim and Rebersburg bands, Post 298, Millheim Hook and Ladder Company, citizens—all under M. M. Musser as marshal. After services as per ritual and two addresses at the cemetery, the soldiers left for Aaronsburg at 3 p. m., taking the two bands along. They visited the two cemeteries of the town, performed the ceremonies and scattered flowers over the graves of the soldier dead, and after listening to two speeches again took up the line of march accompanied by the Millheim band—for Wolf's cemetery. After services there they listened to an address from Col. Coburn and then left for St. Paul's cemetery near Woodward, where, after the ceremonies as laid down by the G. A. R., they had the pleasure of again listening to Col. Coburn, and left to return to Millheim, arriving there at 8 p. m., after a busy and useful day in remembrance of those of our sleeping comrades, feeling secure and safe in duty well performed.

Post 298 will not be found wanting in anything partaining to the work required. The material of which it is composed is good, and beneficial results will follow in the work

How's Your Liver?

Is the Oriental salutation, knowing that good health cannot exist without a healthy Liver. When the Liver is torpid the Bowels are sluggish and constipated, the food lies in the stomach undigested, poisoning the blood; frequent headache ensues; a feeling of lassitude, despondency and nervousness indicate how the whole system is deranged. Simmons Liver Regulator has been the means of restoring more people to health and happiness by giving them a healthy Liver than any agency known on earth. It acts with extraordinary power and efficacy.

NEVER BEEN DISAPPOINTED.

As a general family remedy for Dyspepsia, Torpid Liver, Constipation, etc., I hardly ever use anything else, and have never been disappointed in the effect produced; it seems to be almost a perfect cure for all diseases of the Stomach and Bowels.

—The committee on music of the Y. M. C. A.—which, by the way, is composed of one member from each of the churches of town—seeing the lack of elementary knowledge of music among the young people especially, have engaged the services of Prof. Bierly to teach a class in the hall for this purpose. This class meets every alternate afternoon, and if any one doubts the success of the enterprise would advise them to visit this meeting. But the matter of reaching all classes being a difficult one, after much consultation it was decided to make the tuition free, and in order to pay for the excellent services of the Professor it has been determined to give a public entertainment by a chorus of as many of the musical talent in town as possible. This chorus meets three evenings every week in the hall at eight o'clock, and as there are still quite a number of good voices that ought to take part in this work, the committee earnestly hopes they will join this class without any further personal solicitation. They are certain the entertainment, in connection with the full orchestral accompaniment will be a grand success—although the chorus ought to be stronger—and can assure all that if they come and investigate they will find the conductor, music and class highly interesting.

Maxwell Guilty.

ST. LOUIS, MO., June 6.—When the jury in the Maxwell case retired Friday night, Martin S. Barnett was chosen foreman and David Childs secretary. Barnett was supposed by many to be the man who favored the defense more than any other juror, and when the first ballot was taken the belief was partially confirmed, for he was among the three who did not vote for conviction. A second ballot was taken after some discussion which resulted in ten to two for conviction. The succeeding ballots up to the time for adjournment were identical with the latter and with no prospects for a change.

When the criminal court convened at a quarter past 10 o'clock yesterday morning the deputy who had gone to the jury to ascertain if they were ready to make a report entered the room and held a whispered conversation with Judge Van Wagoner, who immediately called the next case on the docket. The first ballot taken yesterday morning showed that one more had decided upon conviction for the vote stood eleven to one. Maxwell bore up wonderfully well under the strain which he has been enduring for the past three weeks, and when the announcement was made that only one of the jurors was holding out against conviction, the hopeful expression upon his face diminished but slightly.

At about noon the jury proceeded to take another ballot, and when they were counted by the foreman he found that there was inscribed upon each the word "Guilty." A deputy was summoned and he was informed that the jury had a communication to make to the court. The sheriff filed them to their seat, where they remained standing while the foreman read from a slip of paper, "We the jury, find the prisoner guilty of murder in the first degree, as set forth in the indictment."

The prisoner sat in his accustomed place between his attorneys, and when the announcement was made that the jury wished to report he turned nervously in his chair to scan their countenances. He found no sign of encouragement there, and when the verdict was read his face blanched and his eyes sought the floor, where they remained fixed. The jury was polled, and each assented to the verdict, after which the judge dismissed them. The prisoner was taken to his cell, where he will await the result of a motion for a new trial, which will be made upon the grounds of incompetency of the prosecution's witnesses and error in the judge's instructions to the jury.

The President and His Bride at Church.

DEER PARK, June 6.—The President and Mrs. Cleveland, accompanied by Secretary and Mrs. Lamont, who arrived this morning, Senator Davis and Mrs. Davis and two children, and John W. Davis, attended church this morning at Oakland. The quaint mountain village was alive with people who came from miles around to catch a glimpse of the president and his bride. The choir sang "Flee as a Bird to Yon Mountain," after which Dr. Fancke gave out the 540th Hymn: "Behold What Condescending Love" and read the fifteenth chapter of the First Epistle to the Corinthians, after which he prayed at length, asking the Divine blessing for all present, especially the president and his bride. When the collection was taken up President Cleveland contributed a crisp five dollar note. The sermon was preached by Dr. Fancke, who took as his text the first and second verses of the fifteenth chapter of St. Paul's first epistle to the Corinthians. After the service the president and party were driven to the cottage of Senator Davis, where they lunched. Subsequently they visited Major Hill, of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, and spent some time gathering wild flowers. After dinner the president and his party returned to their cottage. The date of the president's return has not yet been announced.

In One Hour.

MT CARMEL, June 6.—The fire alarm was sounded at the Alaska Colliery at 5 o'clock last evening, and one hour later the immense breaker, with all the valuable machinery, was a total wreck. The night watchman entering upon his duty discovered smoke in the lower part of the breaker and alarmed Engineer Hartline. A dozen employees were putting a $50,000 pump in the shaft directly under the breaker and he instantly signaled them to board the cage. They reached the surface a few minutes before the burned tower fell into the mines. Other employes effected their escape by the air shaft. Fifty-two mules are within the mines, but it is thought they are out of danger.

The Typos in Luck.

PITTSBURG, June 8.—At to-day's session of the International Typographical Union Chas. B. Stiners, of Chicago, and William Amison, of Nashville, were nominated for President. The ballot was taken with the understanding that it would reverse the opinion of the convention on the question of joining the Knights of Labor, Stiners being announced as a determined opponent. The ballot resulted in the election of Amison by a vote of 69 to 45.

At the afternoon session Mr James J. Daily, delegate from Philadelphia, presented to the union as a gift of Mr. George W. Childs and Mr. A. J. Drexel, a check for $10,000, $5,000 from each of the gentlemen named. A letter of good wishes from Mr Childs accompanied the check. The letter was received with tremendous applause, and a committee was appointed to draft suitable resolutions of thanks to Messrs. Childs and Drexel.

A Fearful Fire.

CHICAGO, June 7.—Eight persons were smothered and burned to death in the frame houses, at 731 and 733 South Canal street at 4 o'clock this morning. The fire broke out in the cellar at 733 Canal street. The flames shot upward and quickly burned through the first floor, which is on a level with the ground. The fire spread through the wooden walls of the basement, and No. 731 was soon wrapped in the flames which enveloped the adjoining number. Both houses were filled with smoke before any of the occupants were aroused. Many of the sleepers were doubtless smothered in their beds, and it will never be known who awoke and tried in vain to escape from the stifling smoke and scorching flames. The flames following rapidly after the smoke, burned the insensate bodies till they were unrecognizable masses of black and charred bones and flesh.

The lower floor of 733 was occupied by John Raleigh, Jr. His wife was awakened by a sense of suffocation. She aroused her husband, who hastily donned a few articles of clothing and threw up a window. The flames scorched his face, singing his hair and mustache. He caught his wife in his arms, and with a terrible effort, threw her bodily out of the window. Her night dress caught on fire, but with great presence of mind she extinguished the flames with her hands and lent all the assistance possible in saving the lives of her two children. The fire, however, had gained considerable headway, and Raleigh was unable to put the children out of the same window. He then kicked on the wall to arouse the people on the second floor, and catching the babies in his arms, ran up stairs and jumped with them from a second-story window.

The second floor of No. 733 was occupied by the Durkin and Murphy families. No member of either of these families escaped. The firemen, in searching the ruins of the houses, came upon the most harrowing scenes. Some are lying in the half-burned beds. Others who were awakened before death came upon them were clutching each other in groups on the floor. They were all evidently overcome by the smoke before any effort could be made to escape.

The upper floor was occupied by William Hand, Jr. His father lived with him. They were aroused by the smell of smoke. The young man caught up the children and jumped from the second story window with them, after assisting his wife to the street. He wanted to help his father down, but the old man insisted on his jumping with the children. The aged and decrepit form of the old gentleman was seen at the window a moment and then disappeared just as he was about to leap. The raging fire prevented the making of an effort for his rescue. The lower floor of No 731 was occupied by a man named McGuire, who kept a grocery store. All his family were saved.

The names of the dead are as follows: Michael Murphy, aged 40 years; employed by the South Division railway company; Mrs. Michael Murphy, aged about 35 years; Annie Murphy, 9 years old; Nellie Murphy, 11 years old; Mrs. Mary Durkin, aged 30 years; Patsy Lavin, aged 4 years, a son of Mrs. Mary Durkin by a former marriage; John Durkin, 3 weeks old; William Hand, aged 68 years' a butcher.

The President Returns.

DEER PARK, Md., June 8.—The Presidential party, consisting of the President, Mrs. Cleveland, Colonel and Mrs. Lamont, left Deer Park for Washington at 1 p. m. The special train was made up of President Garrett's boudoir car, "Maryland," Col. John W. Davis' private car, "Delaware," and a combination car for the baggage and railroad employes. The special train is running as the second section of the Chicago limited, which passed Deer Park at 12.47 p. m. None of the through trains have been stopping at Deer Park during the President's sojourn here, but, in order to accommodate the newspaper correspondents, who would otherwise have been compelled to go to Oakland to board a train, arrangements were made to have the Chicago limited stop to-day, hence the press representatives on the return trip will have to precede the Presidential train.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—The Presidential party consisting of the President and Mrs. Cleveland and Colonel and Mrs Lamont, returned from Deer Park this evening. The party boarded a special train above Deer Park station shortly before 1 o'clock. A short stop was made at the village of Deer Park where Mayor Hoge was introduced. A large crowd was at Piedmont, W. Va., when the train reached there. In response to the cheering of fully a thousand people, President Cleveland and his wife made their appearance on the rear platform of the car. The President raised his hat and Mrs. Cleveland bowed pleasantly. A little boy was pushed up to the car and handed the President a handsome boquet of flowers and received a shake of the President's hand in return.

At Keyser, W. Va., a stop of four minutes was made, the engine being changed there. Another large crowd was in attendance and more bowing and smiling was done by Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland. At Cumberland, Md., no stop was made, but the train ran slowly through the city, and the entire population seemed to have turned out to cheer the President and Mrs. Cleveland, both of whom stood on the platform of the car. Several other short stops were made. Hon. Stephen B. Elkins and Senator H. G. Davis accompanied the party as far as Piedmont. A large crowd had gathered at the K street crossing of the railroad in this city in the expectation that the President and party would leave the train at that point, but the train passed by at full speed and went direct to the depot. The crowd at the depot was small. When the party alighted and entered carriages those assembled crowded as close as the police would permit them in their endeavor to get a glimpse of the President's bride. The party was driven direct to the White House.

Last week's REPUBLICAN had a larger amount of local news, and a better quality, than any other paper published in the county. The Fountain is gaining friends every day, and as it is the largest journal published in the county it should find a resting place in every household. The Fountain is a literary paper but embraces all the local news.

—Judge Acheson, of the United States Court in Pittsburg, made an order yesterday morning authorizing the United States Marshal to return the venire of summons for jurors to the June term of court at Williamsport unexecuted. In his order the court said that sufficient funds cannot be obtained by the United States Marshal to defray the expenses of the term, therefore no court will be held there. This will cause some delay in the trial of some important cases which had been prepared for that term.

—The fish caught by the President at Deer Park are described as only 12 inches in length. Had he known that 13-inch trout have been caught in Spring creek this Summer he would probably have accepted our invitation to come to Bellefonte.

—The number of visitors to Penn cave exceeds that of previous years and the improvements which have been made to the cave and surroundings and the completion of the new hotel render it a more attractive resort than formerly.

—Once again Chairman T. P. Rynder of the Greenback, Labor, et cetera, party is heard speaking in trumpet tones from his secluded domicile in Milesburg. He calls a State convention of that party in Harrisburg on the 18th of August.

—There is a meat shop in Chicago the gross income from which exceeds the earnings of any railroad in the world. The sales made by Armour & Co., last year, exceeded $50,000,000, or a million a week.

—Some of the churches are beginning the practice of observing what they call "Old Folks' Day," with the idea that if a day is devoted to the children, one should also be devoted to the old folks.

—The young man named Crotzer, who was quite badly injured a few days ago by falling from a trestle in the vicinity of Snow Shoe, is recovering quite rapidly.

"The City of the Dead."

We often make passing allusion to the cemetery in which repose so many of the earthly tenements of those whom we love, but who have preceded us into the dark valley of the shadow of death. We refer to the cemetery as the "city of the dead," and it awakens hallowed associations in our minds. Each fresh occupant links us nearer to it, and if that occupant happens to be one who was near and dear to us the cemetery becomes the place to which of all on earth we are most attached. A place around which our reverent love so clings we should wish to appear very beautiful. We should care for it with all the devoted and loving zeal and good taste which we give to our private grounds.

If this is the case it seems strange that the Howard street cemetery is not made a more inviting and attractive place than it is. We do not understand the rules which govern its care, but it seems to us that arrangements should be made to mow the grass in every lot at least once or twice during the year, keep the graves decorated with flowers; discolored, faded, broken tombstones and monuments should be put into proper position and made to look new. There are several cemeteries, we are informed, in small places throughout the county which present a better appearance than the cemetery in Bellefonte.

Professional Men at Home.

So many of our professional men, during the Summer, combine the practice of their profession with the pursuit of husbandry in the care they give to the garden and yard attached to their home. Possessed, perchance, of a lovely wife and family and a home of their own, and with some time to spare from their business, they improve the shining hours of evening and morning by "making garden," mowing the lawn, putting in flower seeds under the direction of their better halves and the thousand and one little devices to render their home more attractive. There is Clem Dale, Esq., for instance. When he is seen at 5 o'clock p. m. hurrying home it is not only because there is a supper of light biscuit and strawberries at the other end of the trip, but because the weeds are growing up among the lettuce or the onions need renewed cultivation with the hoe. This is a picture of domestic bliss, as the possession of such a well kept home as the result of his own personal industry is the source of much satisfaction.

Robbery at the Nail Works.

The store of the Bellefonte Nail and Iron Company, Limited, was again entered on Tuesday night by unknown parties. They bored a hole through the shutters on the side of the railroad, removing the shutters and also a pane of glass from the window. They did not take much, however, a few pair of shoes and some underclothing being all the articles missed. We are told that a suspicious looking individual met a boy who lives in that vicinity during the previous afternoon and asked if a watchman was kept in the Nail Works store. We advise the proprietors to keep one on hand hereafter.

—Andrew J. Murray, brother of Thos. Murray, residing at Snow Shoe Intersection, who suffered for more than a year from what the physicians called consumption, died on last Saturday, June 5, 1886. A post-mortem examination revealed the fact that he had cancer in the stomach. His remains were brought from Mr. Watt's in Brisbin, Clearfield county, to Snow Shoe Intersection and were interred in the cemetery below Unionville on the 7th, with quite a large number of friends and acquaintances in attendance. Having been a soldier in the late war, some of his comrades paid a last tribute of respect to him by attending his remains to the tomb. The neighbors also very kindly furnished what aid they could. Mr. N. was born in Woodburg, Bedford Co., Pa., was aged 43 years, 9 months, and 1 day. He leaves a wife and one daughter to mourn his departure.

Beech Creek Railroad's Managers.

The Beech Creek Railroad is now in the possession of and operated under the direction of Messrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, Charles C. Clark, Joseph M. Gazzam, Charles J. Langdon and George F. Baer, who purchased it at Sheriff's sale last week for the stockholders. All the old employes have been retained. The new railroad company will be organized June 29. It is surmised that the new officers will be: William A. Wallace, president; C. Vanderbilt, vice president; Allyn Cox, treasurer; S. Richard Peale, solicitor; Cornelius Vanderbilt, Joseph M. Gazzam, William K. Vanderbilt, Daniel Beach, George H. Platt and George F. Baer, directors.

General Beaver.

On Monday the Republicans of Butler county held their local convention, indorsing Beaver for Governor and Greer for secretary of internal affairs. On the same day the Columbia county Republicans convened at Bloomsburg and instructed the delegates for General Beaver for governor, General Osborne first choice for congressman-at-large and General Lilley second choice.

—The contest at marksmanship between Tyrone and Philipsburg in the former place, on Tuesday, was won by Tyrone. The total score of the Tyrone team was 1,050, Philipsburg, 1,032.

SPECIAL MENTION.

—Mr. R. A. Beck has been favoring the people of this place with some serenades of late. In addition to several others of which we have heard, he visited Curtin street Monday morning and serenaded young Master Valentine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Valentine. The crowing infant richly appreciated the "moosic," especially when the lively strains of "The Red, White and Blue" floated in at the window. Several of the large dogs in that vicinity were also attracted by the music, and just as the musician disapeared they were seen running toward the spot from whence the melody proceeded.

To prevent a more serious condition, take at once a half tablespoonful of Simmons Liver Regulator, three times a day—it will soon restore the healthy action of the liver, bowels and kidneys.

"I recommend Simmons Liver Regulator to all my friends, as I have personally known it to cure all liver disorders and sick headache.

—In Messrs. H. B. Pontius, John Olewine and Isaac Thomas, who retired from the school board Monday evening, the Board loses most worthy and excellent members whose places it is not easy to fill. Each one of these gentlemen is a good business man who will be missed in the deliberations of the Board, and their retirement is a public loss. Mr. Pontius is not only a thorough business man, but as secretary we always found him easily accessible and generous in giving information.

Express themselves as being well pleased with our

NEW SYSTEM OF DOING BUSINESS,

And as we are also pleased it is not likely that we shall ever do a

Big Profit and Long Credit

BUSINESS AGAIN.

Our terms are Cash, and positively no over thirty days to responsible parties.

Any farmer that is worthy of credit can borrow money at 6 per cent. and then pay the merchant cash, and save at least 20 per cent., and then if you buy goods at a cash store you don't pay for another man's credit. We have proven beyond question that you can save money by paying cash. A credit store can talk about selling their CASH CUSTOMERS cheap, but they can't do it, and a person with ordinary intelligence knows they can't, and any one that don't know why they can't, we can enlighten them upon the subject. Changes in Representation.

The Republican State committee cannot act upon the report on representation, submitted by the sub-committee, and has not presumed upon greater power than its preparation with a view to submitting it to the State convention for adoption or rejection.

The vital part of the plan consists in the abolition of fifty senatorial delegates and in the adoption of proportional representation based on the Republican vote. With 2000 Republican votes as the unit of representation it would make a slight reduction in the aggregate of the convention. Taking the Blaine vote as the basis, the total number of delegates would be 241 instead of 251.

In this county the Blaine vote was 4,057 and the representation (2 delegates) will remain the same as at present. Clinton, Union, Elk and Huntingdon counties will also remain as at present. The total gain will be 47 and the total loss 7, or a net gain of 40. The total number of representative delegates at present is 201, to which add the 40 additional and the result will be 241.

—On Saturday evening next Rev. Chas. Steck, the accomplished pastor of the Bellefonte Lutheran church, will go to Zion, and will deliver his popular lecture on "The Hero, Recognized and Unrecognized," in the Lutheran church in that place, the proceeds to be given to the church. The building should be filled on that occasion, as the lecture is a grand production.

—From the "Tyrone Topics" in Altoona Times: "The body of Andrew Murray, who died at Brisbin on Saturday last was taken to Snow Shoe Intersection Monday morning for burial. He was the first fireman on the Tyrone Division. The remains were accompanied by Mr. John Watts, who was the first man to pull a throttle on the same road."

—Perfection must have been attained in the art of keeping apples for never before do we remember this fruit so abundant at this season as it is now. Many of the appies offered for sale are very fine, and that, too, at a time when this season's apples are maturing.

—Everybody with their aunts, uncles and cousins, will be in Humes' Hall next Tuesday evening to hear the rich treat of song and elocution. The best singers of this vicinity will take part, including Miss Grove, of State College, who has a magnificent contralto voice.

—Eleven pages of the large book of record in the recorder's office at Lock Haven were required for entering the big mortgage given by the Bald Eagle, Bellefonte and Nittany Valley railroad company in favor of the Fidelity Trust Company, of Philadelphia.

—We learn from the Altoona Tribune that one of the heaviest wind and rain storms that ha ever visited Centre county passed over Scotia on Monday evening blowing down fences, uprooting trees for almost four miles. The tracks of the Juniata Mining company and the culvert near their works were rendered useless by the flood. No injury to life occurred that we could learn of. The storm came up about 5 p. m. and was of short duration.

—Some of the subscribers of the Bell Telephone Company in this place enjoy delightful music, direct from Zion. Dr. Fisher, of the latter place, has a telephone, and his home at Zion is the resort for a first-class orchestra. It is only necessary for the subscribers here to connect with Dr. Fisher's house for them to get the benefit of the music, which is often done in the evening.

—Wednesday we received a pamphlet of 32 pages giving Dr. E. E. Higbee's defense of his management of the soldiers orphans schools. "What is the Truth?" is the title of the pamphlet. We are sorry we cannot answer the Doctor and advise him to settle that question with the Philadelphia Record.

Farm Implements, and Fertilizers.

FARMERS SUPPLIES!

PLOWS.

Thorough plowing and pulverization of the soil is the foundation upon which the successful farmer builds his prosperity. To accomplish this, the character of the plow becomes a matter of the first importance. We present the

to our farmer friends with the assurance that it is not a new invention; nevertheless, it embodies all the improvements known to plow manufacturers. It has an established and enviable reputation, of MANY YEARS STANDING, as being the best bevel land side plow now in use. We assure our friends that a BEVEL LAND SIDE PLOW is superior to any straight land side plow.

The ROLAND CHILLED PLOW is manufactured of the best material, and is of the most perfect workmanship. The parts subject to wear are so chilled as to give strength as well as durability.

Its construction warrants light draft, and it runs so steady that a boy who can drive the team can man the plow—either for two or three horses—and execute the best mechanical plowing.

It will clean or scour in any soil from the start. It is furnished with solid or slip-jointed shares for ordinary or deep plowing. It is equally a successful plow in soft, hard or gravelly soil, and will turn a furrow up hill as complete as on the level ground.

We invite a critical examination of the construction of this plow as well as a thorough test in plowing.

We offer it for sale at remarkably low prices, and on liberal terms.

We keep a stock of shares and other parts for the OLIVER and SYRACUSE Chilled Plows.

CULTIVATORS.

are the farmers favorite, and need no commendation from us. We are the authorized agents for their sale in this part of Centre county. The CHAMPION is the new Hench walking cultivator, a remarkably neat and well constructed implement, and is a credit to the skill and workmanship of these leading cultivator manufacturers. We invite those in want of cultivators to inspect those on exhibition at our store. We can assure our friends that there are no other cultivators in the market equal to the HENCH.

One-horse Cultivators and Shovel Plows that defy competition in prices.

HAY RAKES.

We are selling the CHAMPION horse hay rake for $16.50, and a bet- rake for $17.50. We sell the TIGER SE F-DUMP hay rake, which is the best hay rake in the world, at astonishingly low prices.

HAY TEDDERS.

The large crop of grass now growing, will be hard to handle unless farmers use hay tedders. The

BURDICK

HAY TEDDER is the BEST.

HAY FORKS! Double Harpoon Hay Forks. Price, $1.25 each.

GRAIN DRILLS.

We are the authorized agents for the sale of the CHAMPION and PENNSYLVANIA GRAIN DRILLS. These drills are complete in construction, and are guaranteed to sow grain, seed and fertilizers in the best farmer-like manner. We are prepared to furnish these drills at prices which will justify farmers in buying them. Farmers in want of drills will promote their interests by calling on us and examine the drills and prices for themselves.

Buggies and Platform Spring Wagons.

A customer after examining our spring wagons a few days ago, said we had the best wagons for the last money he had seen in Centre county.

Auburn Road and Farm Wagons.

These wagons are made to our order; with steel skeins or steel axles, and we offer them to our customers with full confidence that they are the best wagons ever sold in this vicinity.

Fruit Evaporators. The outlook for a large crop of good fruit is very favorable. A fruit evaporator does not cost so much money, nevertheless, it can be made more profitable than a cider mill. An elegant opportunity for families of two or three boys to learn a new business and make some money. Call and examine the sample at our store.

FERTILIZERS.

We sell six grades of fertilizers; we assure the farmers of Centre county that we deal in no shoddy goods. In purchasing, the quality is our first consideration and we guarantee every grade of fertilizer we sell is of the quality represented.

CROCKERS' BUFFALO HONEST FERTILIZER

of which we are Sole Agents in this territory, needs no commendation at our hands. It has always realized to the farmer a fair equivalent for the money invested.

In addition to the above we have arranged for the balance of our stock with the Chemical Co. of Canton, located in a suburb of the city of Baltimore, Md.

This company is composed of the Bakers of Baltimore, who formerly conducted the business in their own name and is a house of undoubted reputation for furnishing exactly what they represent.

From this company we obtain five grades of fertilizers—

Dissolved South Carolina Bone,
Dissolved South Carolina Bone and Potash,
Solvable Alkaline Bone Phosphate,
Resurgam Guano and Bakers Standard Guano;

all of which is of the highest standard of quality in its class.

We sold this brand of DISSOLVED SOUTH CAROLINA BONE or ROCK in the vicinity of the Pennsylvania State College last fall—1885—in competition with two other brands, all of which were analyzed at that institution. The Rock we sold proved to be fifty eight cents per ton more valuable than one of its competitors, and four dollars and forty eight cents per ton more valuable than the other, all of which were sold to the farmers at about the same price. This fact should induce farmers to buy fertilizers from dealers who know what they are selling and have the common honesty to sell what they represent.

We invite a careful inspection of the quality of the fertilizers we offer for sale, as well as the prices of the same, including such information as we are always prepared to furnish thereto.

HYDHAULIC CEMENT.

We have been induced to enter into the cement business, for the reason that MR. WILLIAM SHORTLIDGE'S long connection with the Water Works of Bellefonte gave him an extended opportunity to see the effects of using poor and standard cements. We can assure our customers that the cements in which we deal are of uniform quality and of the highest standard of excellence.

We carry a stock of AKRON, ROSENDALE "Hoffman Brand," and the ENGLISH PORTLAND.

The AKRON has been manufactured during the last six years and has been used in the construction of some of the most elaborate Railroad bridges and reservoirs in the United States. Thomas Collins, the well known railroad contractor, informs us that he has used thousands of barrels of it, who recommends it as being a most excellent article. The AKRON cement is being used in the construction of the Croton acqueduct, which will convey water forty two miles to the city of New York. This of itself, is a sufficient guarantee of its superior quality.

We sell the ROSENDALE cement "Hoffman Brand," which is so well known that it needs no commendation at our hands. We keep in stock the ENGLISH PORTLAND cement, the best artificial cement in the world.

We exercise our best judgment in purchasing stock, and spare no efforts to furnish what we represent and trust the community will appreciate our motives by furnishing us with a share of their patronage.

There is a growing practice of venders calling on farmers to sell them their supplies, who succeed in obtaining higher prices for what they sell, with dinner and horse feed thrown in, than the same articles can be purchased of us at our store. We invite farmers to investigate this matter, examine articles and prices before making up their minds to purchase. Customers are ALWAYS WELCOME, whether they buy or not, and WE TAKE PLEASURE IN EXHIBITING WHAT WE HAVE TO SELL.

The Wedding at the White House.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—It was about half-past 6 o'clock when the wedding guests began to arrive, their carriages rolling up to the main door of the mansion through the great iron gates of Pennsylvania avenue. The first arrival was Secretary Lamar. He was closely followed by Rev. Dr. Sunderland and wife and during the next few minutes there came in quick succession Postmaster General Vilas and wife, Wilson S. Bissell, Secretary and Mrs. Endicott, Secretary Bayard, Secretary and Mrs. Whitney and Secretary Manning and wife. Removing their wraps in the state dining room all the guests proceeded to the blue room, where they were received by Miss Rose Cleveland.

The following is a complete list of those present: Mrs Folsom, mother of the bride; Rev. W. N. Cleveland, the president's brother; Miss Cleveland; and Mrs. Hoyt, the president's sisters Thomas F. Bayard, secretary of state; Daniel Manning, secretary of the treasury, and Mrs. Manning; William C. Endicott, secretary of war, and Mrs Endicott; William C Whitney, secretary of the navy, and Mrs. Whitney; William F Vilas, postmaster general, and Mrs Vilas; L. Q. Lamar, secretary of the interior; Daniel S. Lamont, private secretary to the president, and Mrs. Lamont; Benjamin Folsom, of Buffalo; Mr. and Mrs R gers, of Seneca Falls; Mrs. Cadman and Mrs. Huddlestone, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Harmon, Boston, relatives of the bride. Miss Nelson, of New York; W S. Bissell, of Buffalo, the president's former law partner; Dr. and Mrs Byron Sunderland. (Attorney General Garland, although invited, was not present.)

For a few minutes the guests chatted gaily, but conversation was quickly suspended at 7:15 o'clock, when a selected orchestra from the Marine band, stationed in the corridor, struck up the familiar strains of "The Wedding March" from Mendelshon's "Midsummer's Night Dream," and all eyes were turned to the doorway to catch the first glimpse of the coming bride and groom. Starting from the western corridor of the upper floor the president came slowly down the staircase with his bride leaning on his arm.

Light a warm and glowing tone to the whole brilliant interior. The president was in full evening dress, with a turn-down collar, white lawn necktie and white enamel studs.

The bride wore an enchanting wedding dress of ivory satin simply garnished on a high corsage with India muslin crossed in Grecian folds and carried in exquisite falls over the petticoat. Her veil was of mull and completely enveloped her. Orange blossoms garniture was continued throughout the costume with artistic skill. She carried no flowers and wore no jewelry, except an engagement ring containing a sapphire and two diamonds.

After the cermony congratulations were extended. Souvenirs of satin lined boxes containing bridal cake were presented to the guests. The bride changed her wedding dress for a heavy grey silk traveling dress, and at 8.20 o'clock the President and bride entered a carriage and were driven to the Baltimore and Ohio railroad station, where they were escorted into a car provided for them, and are now at Deer Park, to remain a week.

Enjoying Love's Young Dream.

DEER PARK, Md., June 3.—The presidential bridal party arrived at Deer Park at 4 o'clock this morning, where they were met by ex-Senator Henry D. Davis, of West Virginia, who owns nearly everything worth owning around Deer Park, except the hotel and property of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad company. Owing to the secrecy maintained the trip was made without any noteworthy incidents. Deer Park is a little straggling village about fifty miles west of Cumberland and it was of no social account whatever until the Baltimore and Ohio built its big hotel here in 1872.

Senator Davis' "cottage" is located in an oak grove on the edge of the village and about a quarter of a mile from the hotel. It is called a "cottage" because it is only occupied in summer, but it is in reality a big rambling frame house, to which additions have been made time to time, and the combined effect of which is picturesque and attractive.

One of the funny things about the visit of President Cleveland is, that he is not only in a favorite haunt of James G. Blaine, but is actually in the home of the enemy. Stephen B. Elkins, who has been the friend and intimate of Blaine or many years and was the personal manager of the Blaine campaign, is a son-in-law of Davis and has spent his summers here since his marriage eight or ten years ago. It was in Elkins' cottage, just across the park, that the plans were formed for the capture of the Chicago convention of 1884 in favor of Blaine, and during the time which followed many of the most important of the campaign features were mapped out. Mr. Blaine and Senator Davis are warm personal friends and business associates, having been drawn together through the medium of Mr. Elkins. Blaine is interested in coal and lumber ventures as well as coal railroads in this part of the country with Davis, and for many years he came frequently to Deer Park or to Oakland, which is six miles away.

The house is guarded by twelve detectives who are required to know nothing and the admonition is hardly necessary as not a word will they utter on any subject. Mr. Davis said the president had strictly enjoined secrecy before he would consent to come here and the company had tried to give him as much privacy as possible. He will not even receive mail and does not intend to see any one during his stay. He will certainly remain here until Saturday and probably until Monday. The train on which he came is still here at his service in case he should take a notion to leave at any time. The season at Deer Park does not open until June 15, consequently but few people are here.

The bridal party is attended by a French maid, the president's valet and two colored servants. Mrs. Cleveland brought only such garments as would insure comfort, but the president brought with him a fishing suit and outfit. He will commence his piscatorial sport tomorrow. The finest trout stream in the Alleghenies is on the property of ex-Senator Davis near by. It is guarded zealously and the president has been given the privilege of using it.

A Terrible Fall.

ASPEN, Col., June 3.—Last evening a party of young ladies climbed to the top of the fire bell tower, sixty feet high, for the purpose of obtaining a good view of the city. Eppa Stewart stepped to the edge of the tower and was leaning against the corner post, looking over the country, when the janitor, not knowing of the presence of the ladies, seized the bell rope to call a meeting of the fire company.

The sudden clang of the great bell startled Miss Stewart, and, losing her balance, she plunged from the dizzy height to the pavement. She was carried into a neighboring house, where it was discovered that she was injured beyond recovery.

Can't Move Any Freight.

CHICAGO, June 4.—Captain Hunt, of the Hyde Park police force, started for Cummings this morning, taking with him all the available men of his force. This movement was made because of anticipated trouble between the Rock Island railroad and the striking railmakers of the Calumet iron and steel company. Two freight cars containing nails have been standing at Cummings for a week. They were consigned to the Rock Island road.

Yesterday the road made an attempt to move the cars, which was frustrated by the strikers, who induced the trainmen to abandon the attempt. Superintendent Chamberlain, of the Rock Island road, immediately sought out Police Captain Hunt and asked for protection. The captain replied that he could have it and proposes to give it to him. Another attempt will be made to-day to move the cars. Matters are further complicated by the fact that the Rock Island men are in full sympathy with the strikers, and it is feared that if the company insists that their employes move the cars a general strike may occur.

A Fire in Philipsburg.

Special to Altoona Tribune.

PHILIPSBURG, Pa., June 4.—This place was the scene of a very destructive fire between 3 and 4 o'clock this morning. Lawall's drug store, situated in the Foster building, on the northeast corner of Front and Presqueile streets, was totally destroyed. The fire was undoubtedly the work of an incendiary, as this is the third fire that has occurred in that block within three weeks. The Ledger office, immediately above the drug store, made a narrow escape, and was only saved by the prompt action of Reliance hose company, as was the whole square. Too much praise cannot be awarded this brave band of young men. Mr. Lawall had but recently purchased the drug store of Mr. Robert Mull, paying him $5.800 for the same, and only carried an insurance of $3,500.

—We were expected to attend the wedding at the White House, but at the last moment found our engagements would not permit us to attend and sent our regrets and also appropriate congratulations. The happy couple have been invited to spend their honeymoon in Bellefonte, but after debating the subject about twelve hours were obliged to decline at present. They may be present, however, on the occasion of laying the corner stone of the new public school building.

—We have not heard anything recently about the park which is to be located between the Court House and Jail, on Jail hill. There's generosity equal to Carnegie's.

At the Marriage Altar.

'Blessed is the bride that the sun shines on." When the wedding occurred on Thursday evening the light of the sun had vanished. But it never before set in a clearer sky, never before did the wind blow more refreshingly, and the stars were coming out brightly. Therefore, if there is anything in the ancient saw quoted above the bride of Thursday evening will be a happy one. The wedding was an event in colored social circles, and interested even the white population.

When we reached the A. M. E. church at 7.50 o'clock it was full, but the gentlemanly ushers, Messrs. William Mills and Charles Garner, showed us to an excellent seat. Rev. Mr. Norris, the pastor, awaited the coming of the wedding party and a handsome young lady—Mrs. Gants, of Williamsport—brought forth music from the organ, very acceptably occupying the time and entertaining the audience with appropriate musical selections. Mrs. Gants was dressed in white and wore a bouquet of natural roses.

She played the wedding march as the party entered the church. Charles Garner and Wm. Mills were the first to appear. Then came the groomsman, Mr. Robert H. Nelson, and the bridesmaid, Miss Lillie Wilson, both of this place. Miss Wilson is a cousin of the groom. She was attired in a white dress with a long train and a coronet of flowers in her hair. The groom, Mr. John H. Riley, of Newark, N. J., escorted Mrs. M. Graham, the bride's mother. This lady was dressed in black silk. She stepped gracefully back of the groom, and allowed Mr. M. Graham, the bride's father, to escort the handsome young bride, to the altar. This interesting young lady, Miss Teenie Graham, was the central figure of attractiveness. Her dress was of white albatross cloth, made with court train and oriental lace front, square neck and satin ribbon bows at side. She wore a wreath of orange blossoms. The dress was made by Madame Duncan. The ceremony is long and impressive. The bride and groom joined their right hands and made the responses distinctly.

In leaving the church the order was first the bride and groom, then the bridesmaid and groomsman, then Mr. and Mrs. Graham, and the ushers guarding the rear.

An enjoyable reception followed at the home of the bride's father, where wedding refreshments were partaken of and a handsome collection of presents duly inspected and admired. The wedding cake, the creation of Mr. Ceadar's, was very beautiful. Mr. and Mrs. Riley departed this morning for a wedding tour

The South Penn and Beech Creek Railroads.

Arguments in the South Pennsylvania injunction cases was begun in Harrisburg on Tuesday, June 1. It was agreed to argue the cases altogether and two hours and a half were given to each side. Hon. Wayne MacVeagh, of counsel for the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, appeared in the argument. He held that the Pennsylvania Company was in negotiation for the purchase of the majority of stock and securities of the South Pennsylvania Company; that it had a corporate right to do so; that it owned no railroad in the State and therefore was not doing anything in violation of the constitution. He held also that regardless of the fact that the Pennsylvania was the sole stockholder in the Pennsylvania Company, the control of the purchase by the Pennsylvania Company of the South Pennsylvania Company is not the control of the shareholder in contemplation of law.

As to the Beech Creek Company he held that the Northern Central Railroad Company was negotiating for the purchase of that road, as they were in no sense parallel or competing lines. Such a purchase was not in violation of the Const tution.

Deputy Attorney General Snodgrass followed for the State. He held that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company owned the Pennsylvania Company and was simply using the latter corporation as a cover under which to obtain control of the South Pennsylvania Company. He was proceeding to cite evidence in support of this claim when the court adjourned. The tenor of the arguments thus far is in accord with those presented at the trial of the case in the Dauphin county Court, though not so elaborate, as time does not permit.

—Among the most studious and scholarly members of the Bellefonte bar are the Dale Brothers. Their office is located at the northwest corner of the Diamond Square. There is no surer evidence of their careful and intelligent methods of attending to their profession, than the fact that they are constantly adding to their already excellent library works not only of law, but on all subjects of an instructive character. When weary with the legal work under their care they have recourse to this delightful reading, which trains and cultivates while it refreshes the mind. The man who wants his business attended to properly and intelligently can entrust it to such gentlemen as the Dale Brothers with the assurance that it is in the most competent band.

—The commencement exercises of the Pennsylvania State College will take place June 27 to July 1, inclusive, and the annual address before the alumni will be delivered Wednesday evening of that week by Major J. W. Powell, of Washington, D. C., director of the United States Geological Survey. Prof. Wm. A. Buckout is the historian.

—President and Mrs. Cleveland have our thanks for a neat little package of wedding cake received Thursday. It is delicious and causes us to hope that the fair bride and groom may live happily all their lives.

—On Thursday evening, the Lutheran sociable was held at the residence of Mr. G. A. Harbaugh on Curtin street. There was a large attendance of the members of that congregation and the occasion was one of profit and pleasure. Refreshments of cake and ice cream were served and an interesting novelty was a curiosity bazaar, containing numerous objects of great interest. Four young ladies, who took their positions in the hall, rendered some delightful vocal music. No entertainments excel in interest the sociables of the Lutheran congregation and Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Harbaugh and their agreeable niece, Miss Sallie Cochran, understand thoroughly how to make guests feel at home.

—A meeting of persons interested in base ball was held Thursday evening. A committee consisting of Harry Green, Frank Lingle and Jas. Hughes, Jr., was appointed to select a nine to play the State College nine on the College grounds on Friday afternoon of next week, and also to arrange for transporation to the College. If fifty persons will go a special train will be provided. Those who will go—and there are certainly more than fifty persons who take a special interest in the game—should report to a member of the committee.

—When the bids for the construction of the new public school building were opened on Wednesday evening, the 2d, they were all found to be too high for acceptance—some of them three times the price which the Board is willing to pay. There were eight proposals for the entire structure.

—Mrs. Frank, a Philadelphia lady, claims a large track of the best farming land near Spring Mills and also 600 acres near Boalsburg. As the land in question is also claimed by the farmers of that section the lady will probably not be able to establish her claim.

—Many accidents from fire are reported of late. One occurred a few days ago near Wolf's Store, this county. A young child of Mr. Daniel Weaver ventured so close to a hot stove that its clothing was set on fire. The child was so seriously burned that it is not expected to live.

—This is from the Millheim Journal: "Frank Lukenbach, of Bellefonte, spent Decoration day in Millheim and was heartily welcomed by many of his former schoolmates. Frank is growing into a handsome and polished young gentleman."

AN EXTRAORDINARY OFFER.

To All Wanting Employment.

We want Live, Energetic and Capable Agents in every county in the United States and Canada, to sell a patent article of great merit, ON ITS MERITS. An article having a large sale, paying over 100 per cent profit, having no competition, and on which the agent is protected in the exclusive sale by a deed given for each and every county he may secure from us. With all these advantages to our agents and the fact that it is an article that can be sold to every householder, it might not be necessary to make an "EXTRAORDINARY OFFER" to secure good agents at once, but we have concluded to make it to show, not only our confidence in the merits of our invention, but in its salability by any agent that will handle it with energy. Our agents now at work are making from $150 to $200 a month clear and this fact makes it safe for us to make our offer to all who are out of employment. Any agent that will give our business a thirty days' trial and fail to clear at least $100 in this time, ABOVE ALL EXPENSES, can return all goods unsold to us and we will refund the money paid for them. Any agent or general agent who would like to ten or more counties and work them through subagents for ninety days and fail to clear at least $250 ABOVE ALL EXPENSES, can return all unsold and get their money back. No other employer of agents ever dared to make such offers, nor would we if we did not know that we have agents now making more than double the amount we guaranteed; and but two sales a day would give a profit of over $125 a month, and that one of our agents took eighteen orders in one day. Our large descriptive circulars explain our offer fully, and these we wish to send to everyone out of employment who will send us three one cent stamps for postage. Send at once and secure the agency in time for the boom, and go to work on the terms named in our extraordinary offer. We would like to have the address of all the agents, sewing machine solicitors and carpenters in the country, and ask any reader of this paper who reads this offer, to send us at once the name and address of all such they know. Address at once, or you will lose the best chance ever offered to those out of employment to make money. RENNER MANUFACTURING CO., 116 Smithfield St., Pittsburg, Pa.

FEARFULLY COMMON.

Kidney Complaints Among Both Sexes and All Ages. A Brilliant Recovery.

There is something startling in the rapid increase of kidney diseases among the American people within a few years past. Many causes peculiar to certain classes tend to produce and aggravate these troubles—as, for example, careless living, overwork and exposure. Dr. David Kennedy, of Rondout, N. Y., is often congratulated on the exceptional success of his medicine called "Favorite Remedy" in arresting and radically curing these most painful and dangerous disorders. Proofs of this, like the following, are constantly brought to his attention, and are published by him for the sake of thousands of other sufferers whom he desires to reach and benefit. The letter, therefore, may be of vital importance to you or to some one whom you know. It is from one of the best known and popular druggists in the nice and growing city from which he writes, where those interested may find Mr Crawford at his place of business on the corner of Main and Union streets:

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., March 24, 1884.

Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.

DEAR SIR: For ten years I had been afflicted with kidney disease in its most acute form. What I suffered must be left to the imagination, for no one can appreciate it only those who have gone through it. I resorted to many physicians and to many different kinds of treatment, and spent a great deal for medicine, only to find myself older and worse than ever. I may say that I used twenty-five bottles of a preparation widely advertised as a specific for this precise sort of troubles, and found it entirely useless—at least in my case. Your "FAVORITE REMEDY"—I say it with a perfect recollection of all that was done for me besides—is the only thing that did me the slightest good, and I am happy to admit it gave me permanent relief. I have recommended "FAVORITE REMEDY" to many people for kidney disease, and they all agree with me in saying that DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY has of its equal in the wide world for this distressing and often fatal complaint. Use this letter as you deem best for the benefit of others. Yours, &c.,

LYMAN CRAWFORD.

—Policeman Joshua Foulk says he is the champion trout angler of this section this season.

—Quite a luxuriant growth of down is appearing upon the upper lip of Mr. John Rankin, of the First National Bank.

—The sixth annual meeting of the Constitutional Temperance Amendment Association will be held in Williamsport on June 23 and 24.

—We regret to learn that Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Dunkle were thrown from a buggy while out riding on Sunday, and were slightly though not seriously injured.

—The text of Rev. Dewitt Talmage's sermon in Brooklyn Sunday was from Isaiah 62:4, "The Lord Delighteth in thee, and thy land shall be married"

—The Agricultural Society, which met in the secretary's office, Monday evening, to elect delegates to State College, adjourned until 2 o'clock this afternoon.

—A parade of striking miners occurred at Snow Shoe on Saturday which created some excitement, although we did not hear of any acts of intimidation or violence.

—In some way a report was circulated in this place Saturday that Rev. Henry Ward Beecher had died suddenly. The report, however, is entirely without foundation.

—The residence of Mr. A. G. Curtin, Jr., on Curtin street, has been repainted very handsomely, and new walks have been laid through the grounds by Bayard & Cuningham.

—A young man named Crotzer fell from a tresle fifteen or twenty feet high near Snow Shoe on Saturday, injuring him elf severely. Dr. Dorworth, of this place, attended him.

—We were sorry to hear on Sunday of the serious illness of little Patty Lane, oldest daughter of Mr. John Lane. She is a bright little girl and we hope to hear of her speedy recovery.

—The services in the Episcopal church, Sunday evening, were almost entirely musical, the Psalter, the Creed, the Lord's Prayer and all the "Amens" being sung with organ accompaniment.

—A reunion of the 84th regiment will be held at Gettysburg on the 7th of July. Members of that regiment are requested to send their address to Captain Robert Johnson, of Altoona.

—The attendance at market, both of buyers and sellers, seems to be small. Tuesday there was a generous supply of strawberries, cherries, radishes, butter and eggs offered for sale.

—There is about as much music in the sole of Jimmie Kinsloe as in that of any one we know of. It is caused principally his new shoes, which make enough music to warn people of his approach.

—Laurel is in blossom and the two carriages containing the Misses Valentine and Hoy, Miss Potter and other young ladies were weighed down with the bright flowers when they returned from the woods Saturday afternoon.

—The High School commencement season is ended, but those of the academies, young ladies seminaries, colleges and universities are just beginning ,and each will demand its share of attention Bellefonte has personal interest in some of these occasions.

—The commencement exercises of Birmingham Seminary were held on Wednesday and numerous invitations to it were received in this place. The published programme is entirely musical and the name of Miss Aikens, of this place, appears upon it.

—We have received a printed copy of the Decoration address delivered in the city of Galesburg, Ill., by William F. Bailey, formerly a resident of this place. The address is the finest deliverance of the kind we have read this year, but its length precludes its publication in the REPUBLICAN.

—Three members of the Defiance base ball nine (incorrectly called the Black Diamonds) informed us Monday morning that instead of the score of Thursday's game with the Browns being 12 to 11 in favor of the latter club, it was 9 to 0 in favor of the Defiance, the Browns refusing to finish the game.

—The soldier who fought in the rebellion, won the war and wants a Presidential ticket made up of John A. Logan and A. G. Curtin, appeared in Bellefonte Monday. His disappointment at not meeting the War Governor was great, "because," said Lieut. Wm. Roberts, "I dined with Andy in Harrisburg in 1862."

—In the Lutheran church, Sunday morning, Rev. Chas. Steck delivered the second sermon from the text in Psalm 137:4, "How shall we sing the Lord's song in a strange land?" It was a continuation of the fine discourse of the previous Sunday morning and, like the first sermon, was grandly conceived, displaying deep thought and great beauty of language. Those who listened to his evening sermon also speak highly of it.

Off Duty.

MR. EDITOR: Having been off duty for a few days,and after feasting and frollicking amid scenes and associates of other days, but once again on duty in my appointed field, I thought it not amiss to pen a few observations and gleanings from my brief trip

TO HOWARD AND BACK.

Having been invited by Grove Brothers post, 262, G. A. R., of Howard, to orate on Decoration Day, in due time I was on the sod in full dress uniform and ready to do the part assigned me as best I could I have attended similar services without intermission for a number of years, but the most successful Decoration services I ever attended I participated in at Howard May 29.

A FREE DINNER

was given by the citizens of Howard. It was simply immense; and after scores had eaten to the full, many baskets were distributed to those in straightened circumstances. The arrangements and grand dinner and disposition made of the delicious fragments do credit to the skill and large heartedness of the Howard people and those having it in charge. In the forenoon, the veterans, accompanied by the Howard band, went to Jacksonville and decorated the graves of the buried heroes. The dirges by the band were very fine, also the singing by the Jacksonville choir. The address by Rev. "Comrade" Gross of Howard was a fine effort, not alone endorsing the wisdom of the post in its selection of an orator, but it also told of the master mind from which were brought the pearl-thoughts of the address. After partaking of the sumptuous dinner spread in Howard school house yard, the "vets," headed by the band, paraded the main street, then entered the "silent city of the dead," and, after the impressive G. A. R. ceremony, led by Commander H. C. Holter, and solemn and eloquent strains by the band, and finely rendered pieces by the Howard Glee Club, led by that master of song, Prof. Jac. Weirick, Rev. "Comrade" Hicks, of Duncansville, delivered an address, followed by clean-cut and eloquent speeches by Rev. Oliphant,of the Christian church, of Youngstown Ohio, and Rev. Messenger, of the Evangelical church. Not a jar to mar the work of the day occurred, but a very suggestive incident took place when "Comrade" Hicks was speaking. A beautiful mound surmounded by a cross, all covered with evergreens, had been erected "to the unknown." A slimy green serpent crawled out of the stone mound and dragged its unwelcome length up the cross, and posted itself on one of the arms, suggesting that no sort of meeting —not even one to honor our dead—can be held, but the old serpent will be there too, and drag and post himself on the most sacred emblem of peace and salvation known to men.

The day (Decoration) was well spent in honoring the noble dead. The evening was the beginning of the end of a grand work looking to the salvation of the living, the dedication of the Evangelical church of Howard. The church is a credit to the Christian people that erected it and an ornament to the town. The writer was honored by preaching the first sermon, by request of the pastor, Rev. Gross, in the church, Saturday evening, to a full house. Sunday was a field day for the Christain people of Howard in general and for our Evangelical brethren in particular. Rev. Stanford, of Cleveland, Ohio, preached a very superior sermon in the morning. His simplicity, winsomeness, clearness, freshness and eloquence just captured the vast audience. Taking an oft quoted and old text, "Lay not up for yourselves treasures on the earth, &c.," he led us step by step into new, flowery, fresh, fragrant and sunny fields of thought till joyous laughter and grateful tears prevailed everywhere throughout the house. The sermon ended, the work of lifting a debt of $1,100 began. In a little while nearly $600 were secured, then a recess was taken for dinner. Afternoon and evening the same masterly head and mind controlled the movements of the Gospel hosts, and before the benediction was pronounced closing the third service of the day. the whole amount was pledged, and the doxology sung—grand success.

The writer, in the evening, preached in Beech Creek to his old hearers, whose smiling faces were a joy to look upon. Under the masterly direction of Mr. Geo. Wistar, the hearty and musical reception given me in the G. A. R. hall, the evening of the 28th, by my old friends and hearers, strengthened the resolve made years ago—do all I can to make friends, and all I can to keep them. The only sad feature to me of my "off duty" was that the days I had to spend with my friends were so few, that my thirst and hunger visiting among them was aggravated rather than satisfied. My bright and joyous reminiscences of Howard are many, thanks to my friends.

I "took in" Curtin forge community, and, as many times in the past, so on June 1st, I hugely enjoyed the cheerful social life of the happy home of Mr. James B. Curtin, also the hearty hand shake of my forgemen friends. In the evening by 8.30 o'clock I was once more on my field of labor ready for duty, greatly encouraged to do the right. Such "off duty" trips as was mine last week so bring out the sunny side of true friendship, as well as the marvelous strength of friendship's ties that one could quite forget for a time his identity with a sinful race, and wish himself a fixture for untold ages. I would say to my Howard circuit friends, one and all, come and see us in our charge and we will introduce you to faces and hearts close akin to your own smiling and true ones, as well as help you to joyously drink in the mountain air scenery.

I feel as though ten years had been added to my life, so cheered was I by meeting friends of the other days. May you all live long and do good.

Yours in the bonds of friendship,

"BRO." HICKS.

Duncansville, Pa., June 3d, 1886.

Borough Fathers in Session.

The members of council who gathered around the table Monday evening were Brouse, Brew, Munson, Harshberger, Hepburn, Brockerhoff and President Brown.

The meeting was called to order, minutes read and two gentlemen who had requests to make were listened to. The first was Mr. Dooley, who is impatient with the tardiness of council in taking the collection of broken stone off his hands, and also Mr. Armstrong, who wants to erect a house on the extension of East Howard street and cannot get the proper action taken by council to enable him to do so. It seems that there is a misapprehension in the minds of council as to what is requested to be done, and the matter was finally disposed of by reconsidering and rescinding the action taken April 5. This leaves the situation of Mr. Armstrong exactly as it was before that action.

The Street committee reported that the work of opening Beaver street was begun on Tuesday, the 1st, and that the wall near the bridge which had fallen into Spring creek has been repaired.

The committees on license to be imposed on hucksters, on map and explosives all reported progress.

The Market committee has paid, thus far this year, $5.15.

About fifty feet of boardwalk in front of the Schnell property on Bishop street is reported to be in bad condition. It was referred to Street committee with power to make necessary repairs.

The subject of a new lease for the hose house was discussed and the report rendered that Mr. Humes refuses to make improvements unless a long lease is made. Mr. Brockerhoff believes that a lease or other contract lasting longer than the life of present council is illegal This view was generally dissented from and a motion was adopted that the Fire and Police committee be authorized to make a lease for five years at present rate, on condition that the repairs be made.

After discussion, a motion was carried that a special committee of one, in connection with the Finance committee, be appointed to make a careful examination of the list of bonds that can be refunded between the present time and July 1, with the view of refunding such bonds at 4 per cent, and become due at the date of the expiration of the 7 per cent. bonds—April, 1893. The committee will report to a special meeting of council on Wednesday next.

On motion, the clerk was authorized to draw an order for the payment of Mr. Yerger for work done on Bishop street sewer, as soon as the sewer is completed and approved by the borough engineer and the Street committee.

Gregg Post Adopts Resolutions.

At the last regular meeting of Gregg Post, No. 95, Dep't of Pa., June 5th inst., the following resolutions well all unanimously adopted, viz.,

Resolved, That the Hon. Thos. H. Murray, of the Clearfield county bar, who so ably delivered the "memorial" address in Humes' Hall, on the evening of the 29th of May last,receive the thanks of the Post.

Resolved, That the ladies of Bellefonte who arranged the flowers for decoration of deceased comrades' graves, should have and are hereby made recipients of our grateful thanks for their disinterested service, to whom as well as our little friends, the boys and girls, we are most indebted, as without flowers, Memorial Day could be made but an empty show.

Resolved, That we thank all citizens whose generous response to our call for assistance financially, through the committee, comrades Wm. Jones, S. H. Williams and Wm. Fitzgerald, helped the Post over a matter of no inconsiderable difficulty in defraying necessary expense, the donations of money being sufficient.

Resolved, That Company B, N. G. of Pa., the Logan Hose Company, the choir in the cemetery and in Humes' Hall, the Zion Band and the little girls in white, with all others, who aided the memorial ceremonies in any way, being our benefactors thereby, in the name of those whose graves were strewn with flowers, we thank them.

Adopted and approved.

JOHN NOLL, Commander.

At the same meeting Comrade Sam'l Schaeffer received the unanimous vote of the Post (Commander Sam'l Gault, his sole competitor, having withdrawn), for the office of Junior Vice Commander. The office had been made vacant by the resignation of Comrade A. V. Miller. [Weekly papers please copy.]

—At least one of Bellefonte's aristocratic young ladies can whistle very skillfully.

Celebrating an Anniversary.

On Monday evening occurred the 25th anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Miller, who live on Reynolds' Avenue. The event was made a more notable one by a surprise party of fifty or sixty of the friends and acquaintances, who went in a body to the residence of this good lady and gentleman to spend the evening. It was in all respects a great occasion. Perfect good fellowship and pleasure marked all the exercises of the evening, and the company, all composed of married people, derived great benefit to themselves by the pleasure and honor they strove to confer on Mr. and Mrs. Miller.

The good lady of the household has an unusual claim on the gratitude of many people in Bellefonte and so the earnestness of their efforts in trying to do honor to this event cannot be wondered at. Mrs. Miller has always been the embodiment of all that is generous and kind. At any hour of the day or night when she could be of service to others she would be ready to exert herself in their interest. By kind words and generous actions she has comforted the fallen, the sorrowing and the afflicted in numerous instances. Her kind offices have rendered soft the hardest pillow and melted to gratitude the stoniest heart.

The company brought viands and a collation was served which would have done honor to the grandest occasion. As permanent testimonials of their esteem they brought many beautiful and costly presents. The event was one which will never be forgotten by those who participated.

—The Woman's Christian Temperance Union, of Philipsburg, last week, gave what they termed a "Mikado supper" for the benefit of the Reliance Hose Company of that place. Some of the members of the Logan Hose Company of Bellefonte are of opinion that it would be an exceedingly appropriate action for the Woman's Christian Temperance Union here to give such an entertainment for their benefit. Since the plan has been mentioned it occurs to us that such entertainments given occasionally for the benefit of the company would obviate the necessity of holding balls for the purpose of helping the company financially. It is certain that when the fierce flames threaten to consume our household treasures or imperil our lives we expect these same gallant fire laddies to risk their safety for our sakes. At such a time no danger is too great for the fireman to encounter. Fortunately, our town marvelously escapes the depredations of the fire fiend. But whenever the emergency arises the members of the Logan Fire Company are ready and alert. Those who are shocked at the enormity of the borough debt are obliged to confess that the borough cannot give the firemen the necessary financial encouragement and they must depend upon the generosity of the public. In the name of gratitude and local pride (which are not dead, but only sleeping), we invoke the interest of the public in aiding this company. We name the W. C. T. U. only because the idea is suggested by a similar occurrence in Philipsburg. Another suggestion would be that the fair young ladies and gentlemen of leisure who have good taste in such things and are also possessed of executive ability and influence plan a series of entertainments. The object as well as the merits of the entertainments would strike a popular chord, and the response would be generous while the effect would be improving.

—Lovers of music, have you made arrangements to attend the concert on the 15th inst? Remember, that Miss Ohnmacht is giving her personal attention to this delightful musical programme, and Bellefonte has no one more competent than she is for such a work. No one who assumes to have any musical taste or culture can miss this rare event. Remember again, that it is for the benefit of the Lutheran church, one of the most deserving of the religious societies. The members of that congregation are ever most generous in aiding other similar enterprises and have the right to expect a large financial profit on this occasion. Third, last and perhaps greatest of all, bear in mind that Rev. Chas. Steck will give the first public readings of Shakespeare with which he has favored the people of Bellefonte. Those who have heard him in private were electrified by the fire, earnestness and soul with which he rendered the readings. So far as the writer is concerned, he can say that excellent as Rev. Steck is in reading other compositions, his rendering of Shakespeare far surpasses all other efforts. He is personally grandly endowed for this high order of elocutionary accomplishment and when in the midst of an intensely dramatic passage Rev. Steck entirely disappears and the creation of Shakespeare is resurrected and lives again, thrilling the listener. His equal in this particular has never been in Bellefonte. This great feast of song and eloquence will cost only the popular prices. If there is an empty seat in the hall it will be a reflection on the town, as entertainments are not numerous and this will be "one among a thousand."

—Tickets for the concert next week for the benefit of the Lutheran church are for sale at Sourbeck's. Purchase a ticket and reserve a seat to-day.

General Beaver was one of the orators at the picnic of the Amalgated Association at Beaver on Saturday, 20,000 being in attendance.

Tuesday we noticed Mr. Rathmell, one of Williamsport's insurance men, in town. He has added spectacles to his wearing apparel since we saw him last.

Mr. Fleming, of Altoona, representing the Massachusetts Life Insurance Company, was in Bellefonte Tuesday. He says the business of his company is ahead of that of last year.

—It is beyond dispute that Dr. A. Hibler is cultivating the finest strawberries in Centre county. He presented us a generous supply of them on Tuesday and we found them all that they have been described. The berries he presented us were principally of the mammoth Sharpless variety, red around their plumpest parts and then changing to a cream color at their tapering points. They are not regular in shape, but bulge out in places as if three or four different berries are trying to grow in one, and so it seems when their size is taken into consideration, and their excellent flavor really makes us believe that the sweetness and richness of several strawberries had been condensed into one. Among the Sharpless berries were several of a darker and more uniform red and a more regular shape which we believe he called the Westminster. They were all large and handsome, and the Doctor says there are some growing on his vines that are yet more enormous. Those who cultivate strawberries should endeavor to learn the Doctor's secret of growing them so immensely.

—Action was taken Monday evening which will result in refunding a part of the bonded debt of the borough at four per cent. This movement perhaps had its origin in a suggestion made by Treasurer Cook, and shows the advantage to the borough of having an official who is careful and watchful of its financial interests. He happened to mention to the council the fact that he knew where four thousand dollars worth of the bonds could be refunded at this reduced rate, and the result was the motion alluded to in council proceedings. If all maturing bonds can be thus refunded the advantage will be considerable, as only a short time ago bonds were given by the borough at 5 per cent.

—We are informed that Mr. Philip Collins has purchased a locomotive and fifty cars for use on the Buffalo Run railroad. The road will be seventeen miles and a fraction in length, and there will be in all twenty-two miles of track laid, the additional five miles being made up of sidings. This is another straw to show that the wind blows in the direction of great activity in the ore fields through which the line passes. Therecent sale of the Beech Creek road indicated its early completion to a point where connection can be made with the Buffalo Run.

—Markets are steady this week, the only change being in dried apples, which advanced from 5 cents to 7 cents per pound. Butter has ranged from 10 to 12½ cents per pound. Let us here remark that 10 cents per lb is too low for butter. We have already observed that when the price of butter declines too much the commodity suddenly and mysteriously disappears altogether from market, and then when the price advances the butter is not so fresh. Therefore, it is better for butter to command a reasonably good price all the year round.

—On Monday evening the school board met for the purpose of reorganization. D. F. Fortney, Esq., was elected President, W. B. Rankin Secretary and John P. Harris, Treasurer. The members who retired are H. B. Pontius, John Olewine and Isaac Thomas, who are succeeded, respectively, by H. D. Yerger, David Haines and Robert Carothers. The first regular meeting of the Board will be held this evening, the second Tuesday evening in each month being the time appointed for meetings.
